

Dear IEC experts,

Help us reach out to the next generation by informing all young professionals in your companies about the existence of the IEC Young Professionals Programme (YPP) and the possibility for them to get involved through their National Committee.

The IEC YPP's objective is to encourage professionals at the start of their career to participate in IEC work. It is aimed at young managers, engineers, technicians aged from early 20s to mid-30s.

Of the 336 participants from 44 countries, 63 % have maintained or increased their IEC involvement after participating in the Programme.

As an IEC expert this is an opportunity for you to build stronger links with your company's young professionals and share with them your experience and valuable knowledge.

If you forward this email on to the young professionals in your company they can find more information on the upcoming IEC YP workshop in Frankfurt by clicking here.

Thank you for your support.

Kind regards,

Robert McLaren
